DETAILED ACTION

Claims 1-65 are pending in the application. The following is now required.

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-45, drawn to a method of use wherein the maxi-K potassium channel opener is a fluoro-oxindole compound or a chloro-oxindole compound, classified in class 514, subclass 418.
- II. Claims 1-7, 12-14, 19-22, 28-35 and 43-45, drawn to a method of use wherein the maxi-K potassium channel opener is not a fluoro-oxindole compound nor a chloro-oxindole compound, classified in class 514.
- III. Claims 46-54, drawn to a method of screening, classified in class 435.

- IV. Claims 55-59, drawn to a method of assaying having a positive control in which the positive control is a maxi-K potassium channel opener selected from a fluoro-oxindole compound and a chloro-oxindole compound, classified in class 435.
- V. Claims 55 and 56, drawn to a method of assaying in which a fluoro-oxindole nor a chloro-oxindole is present {e.g. a method not embraced by Group IV}, classified in class 435.
- VI. Claims 60 and 61, drawn to a product which is not a fluoro-oxindole compound nor a chloro-oxindole compound.
- VII. Claims 60-65, drawn to a product which is a fluoro-oxindole compound or a chloro-oxindole compound, classified in class 548, subclass 484+.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons: Inventions of Groups I and IV and Group VII are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)).

In the instant case, the process for using can be practiced with a materially different product. Groups I-V are directed to patentably distinct methods of use since each method utilizes either patentably distinct products and/or require different process steps. The products of Group VI and Group VII differ materially in structure and element so much so as to be patentably distinct. In addition, a reference that anticipates one group may not even render obvious the other.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above, have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification and the search required for Group I, for example, is not required for Group VII, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper. Therefore, it would impose an undue burden on the Examiner and the Patent Office's resources to examine the instant application if unrestricted.

The above groups themselves are inclusive of patentably distinct subject matter. Accordingly, along with the election of one of the above groups, the following action is also taken.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species (e.g., Example number, page number and structural depiction) from whichever group is ultimately elected, even though this requirement is traversed.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

Upon the election of a single disclosed species (e.g. Example, page number and structural depiction), a generic concept, inclusive of the elected species, will be identified by the Examiner for examination.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application.

Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
